

Letter from the 10th Regiment.

Editors Gazette:—Thinking perhaps you would like a few lines from the 40th Regiment, I thought I would let you know how it is flourishing. We have been quite still lately, doing nothing but picket duty since we have been in camp, until Sunday morning, August 21st, when we had a little fun, as the boys call it.

Sunday morning about four o'clock, our camp was aroused by a number of soldiers from 137th Illinois regiment who informed us that their camp had been surprised by a body of cavalry under command of Forrest. Our regiment was in line of battle in about five minutes and about five o'clock Col. Ray received orders from Col. Hogg commanding the first brigade, to march to the Hernando road at once, a distance of three miles from our camp, which place we reached in about thirty minutes and found the rebels in line of battle, with three or four pieces of artillery in action. We were ordered to the extreme front to support the 3d Missouri battery, and took our position about 80 rods in front of the battery and about 100 rods from the rebels' front, which was composed of artillery, musketry and sharpshooters. We were ordered to lay down, and had lain about five minutes when the rebels opened a heavy fire of shot and shell and musketry on our regiment. The 3d Missouri and the 7th Wisconsin batteries on our left opened on them.

The fight now became general between the two batteries and continued for thirty minutes, the 40th regiment between the two lines throughout, the only regiment that was under fire, the men and officers behaving nobly, not a man left his post in the trying half-hour. After the firing had stopped the 30th and 41st regiments then formed in line of battle behind the 40th and we were ordered to move forward and support the cavalry which was in hot pursuit after the rebels, who went off on a double quick. We marched some distance and struck the Hernando road on the left a mile in advance of any other regiment. The pursuit was continued for two miles and a half, when the regiment was ordered back to camp which was a happy order for the boys as they had had nothing to eat since the night before and were very tired and hungry. The cavalry still skirmishing with the rebels. We took our time in returning to camp where we arrived at five p. m. We had five wounded and were continually exposed to a heavy fire during the engagement. It is the opinion of the people that half the raiders might have been captured if there had not been a misunderstanding. As we were returning from the battle-field, we saw a great many dead soldiers and horses. Our regiment is doing very heavy duty at present. We furnish 150 men for duty every day and this morning 254 were reported sick and unfit for duty. We have lost twelve men out of the regiment among whom was Mr. George Plater of company A., from near Janesville. The regiment afforded no better man than Mr. Plater and his loss is deeply felt in his company.

Monday was one of the most exciting days ever known in the city of Memphis. There was a report that the rebels were in Memphis, caused by some soldiers firing off their guns. And in about thirty minutes the whole militia was out and a line of battle formed around the city. We got back to camp at noon. We all think we will go home in about two weeks, and then you will hear every particular. There was a report that Gen. Forrest had sent in a flag to request the surrender of the city but I guess it is a humbug. There are some twenty of our regiment who start home to night at five and they will give all the particulars.

A MEMBER OF THE 40TH.

Tax National Convention of Spiritualists held an animated session at Chicago on the 11th, when the resolutions in favor of the Administration and re-election of Mr. Lincoln was considered. Judge Carter, of Cincinnati, a Democrat, opposed them; believing that spiritualism should not be converted into a tool to help men to office. He showed that there were differences in the spiritual world in relation to this war—one medium—Miss Doten, making war speeches, and Mrs. Spence advocating peace. Several parties made speeches—some denouncing politics as a fire-brand which would scatter spiritualism to the four winds of heaven; others did not want a spiritualism so heavenly that it could not be brought down to every day matters. The resolution finally passed, 278-303; yeas 41.

In NORTH CAROLINA, it turns out that Holden, the peace candidate for Governor was not beaten by so large a majority as was claimed. Several counties in the west gave him large majorities, but they were thrown out for disloyalty. The North Carolina Times claims that a majority of the Legislature are Holden men, opposed to the continuance of the war, but they will not dare to speak out till the military power of the rebellion is broken.

This Chattanooga Rebel, of a recent date, says: "We admire McClellan and we admire Buell also; we admire Vallandigham more than all because he was against the war at the start, and has kept his faith ever since."

A REPUBLICAN convention at Ravenna, Ohio, passed a resolution "condemning Senator Wade, and requesting him to vacate the seat he holds and defend in the United States Senate."

"Correspondence Wanted."

Ladies, permit me to address a few lines to you through the Tribune, in regard to "correspondence" with soldiers and officers serving in the army of our country. We, the officers and soldiers of the army, need and deserve the sympathy and counsel of our mothers, wives, sisters and lady acquaintances from the dear homes which we have left behind. From these, letters are always acceptable, and are read with a deep interest; and there is always a deep feeling of respect for the writers, and the dear old home from whence they come. There is no love or expression of vulgar thought, or low allusions to the writers of them—holly home thoughts of the dear ones whom we loved so well; and often have I seen the bronzed cheek of the veteran, as well as the fair cheek of the young girl, flushed with manly pride, or overtaken by loving tears that spoke louder than words of true hearted and brave men. Not so when your cold, insipid and state letters are received. There is generally a shout of derision from many voices as your carefully-written nonsense is retailed out to a corporal, sergeant, private, or may be a negro servant; and could you hear their vulgar wit and coarse expressions over your letters, and at your expense, I think, ladies, that you would answer no more "Wanted, correspondence, for mutual cultivation." I trust, ladies, that this article may be of service to you, inasmuch as it will urge you to write only to those whom you know and you may put it down for a fact that any officer or soldier advertising for lady correspondence, does so for no honorable or noble purpose. Ninety-nine out of every hundred letters received by officers and soldiers are treated with contempt and derision. Thus you see that your tender effusions, gushing out flowery and sentimental platitudes, are used to your disadvantage and injury. In many cases the officer or soldier takes pains to ascertain your true name, and then your letters not only reflect to your disadvantage, but bring disgrace to your friends. I know of one young lady who is the laughing-stock of a whole regiment, and many of them are her friends and neighbors of hers, not two years ago. Her fair name and character are blighted, and one who has counted on her being something more than a friend in the future, has cast her aside, and her letters of truth to him are unanswered, or returned, unopened. Ladies, good bye. Learn from this to do better. Write to your known and tried soldier friends and relatives, and none other.

I am, ladies, your friend and well-wisher,
E. V. WILSON,
1st Lieut. Co. H, 39th reg't Wis. Vols.

The Richmond Examiner of August 13th, makes itself happy over Early's success in the Shenandoah Valley. Its article is evidently written for those who are half-starved in Richmond, and who have never heard the name of General Sheridan. We quote a pleasant extract:

"We may perhaps collect from the latest intelligence which has reached us, that General Early has nearly brought his rural and pastoral pursuits to a close; that long trains of wagons are now ascending the Shenandoah Valley at a leisurely pace, collecting as they go the new threshed heaps of golden treasure; and that innumerable processions of fine cows and heifers are moving outward slowly, laying the stubble fields bare as they advance; for not too much hurried must be the milky mother; while Confederate reapers, threshers and drovers resume their warlike array, and await the appearance of those avenging hosts which are searching for them with such headlong fury. General Early has laid aside his pastoral croak, and his oaten pipe no longer makes music under the greenwood tree. As to the thirty or forty thousand terrible Yankies who first of his blood, we would take the liberty of advising them to go on not finding him; let them hurry on the campaign as they have begun it, like men who study how not to do it. If he is at one gap of the mountain let them burst furiously through another; only let them beware of disturbing Jubal Early's harvest-home."

PRESIDENT LINCOLN.—The New York Tribune in an article giving a sketch of the life and services of President Lincoln, closes as follows:

"Mr. Lincoln, if you will, is not a hero—not a genius—not a man of the very highest order of intellect. He has made mistakes as President, some of which it is quite possible that another might have avoided. But is the God-forsaken traitor who revolts him as an ape, a hyena, or a jackass, one who more absurd than the feeble Northern imitator who prates of him as a 'rail-splitting buffoon,' who has 'grown up in ignorance,' &c., &c. If that is a true characterization of one who has stood such tests, overcome such impediments, and achieved such successes as Abraham Lincoln, then a democracy based on popular suffrage is an impudent fraud—a stupendous hoax—and we ought at once to turn our constitutions, close our schoolhouses, prohibit all future elections, and despatch a deputation of notables to Louis Napoleon to beg him to send us an Emperor. That's all."

The whole country will learn with pleasure that President Lincoln has appointed Gen. Sherman to the Major-Generalship vacated by the promotion of Lieut. Gen. Grant. He is unquestionably one of the ablest and most sagacious officers in our army. To foresee the magnitude of the impending war at a time when the President thought the whole affair would soon blow over; he declined to aid in the organization of three months regiments, believing that "it would be as wise to undertake to extinguish the flames of a burning building with a squirt-gun as to put down the rebellion with three months' troops." He tendered his service to Gen. Cameron, then Secretary of War, and urged proper preparations by calling out the entire military power of the country at once, and forcibly to strangle the rebellion in its cradle. His views were not regarded, and his proffer of services was not accepted until June 12th, 1861, when he was appointed Colonel of the 13th United States Infantry. For his gallant conduct at Bull Run he was made Brigadier-General of volunteers, and Major-General May 1st, 1862. His career has been uniformly successful, and his mind has all the inspiration of the highest military genius. "The country honors itself in honoring William T. Sherman."

Gen. Hooker is a native of Dalton, Mass. He married in California a Mexican lady of great wealth, and on her death she left her large fortune to her husband.

THE INDIAN WAR.

Slaughter of Women and Children at Marysville, Kansas.

Every hour of the day news is brought to us of fresh outrages committed by the Indians on the plains. The latest dispatch is that Marysville, in Kansas, has been completely sacked by the ferocious redskins; that the Indians were in large force, and the militia of the counties in that vicinity were rushing to the rescue, determined to wage a war of extermination against these devils of the forest.

Yesterday we were shown an arrow which a gentleman drew from the side of a woman who lay scalped and dead in the road, about 130 miles west of us. The arrow was shot into the side of the woman, and penetrated full eight inches, leaving the sharp steel barb as it was extracted. This slender but terribly effective weapon was blood-stained from the point up, a distance of about eight inches. Tipped with a peacock's feather, and wound with sinew, polished as smoothly as glass, painted blue, orange and black, this tiny shaft did not look like the formidable engine of destruction it has proved to be.

Our informant says he saw, and assisted to bury, over fifty murdered men and women lying by the roadside between Denver and Omaha. He thinks the carnage between Fort Kearney and Denver is greater than anything east of the former place. The ranchmen have all fled, emigrants have been killed, trains plundered, herds of cattle slaughtered and left on the plains, and every barbarity imaginable has been inflicted on the defenseless whites who chanced to fall into the hands of the Indians.

What has been done with the plunder is a mystery to all. The rapidity with which hundreds of tons of merchandise have been carried away suggests, very naturally, that there are white men engaged in this awful work. Many believe that the members of the different bands of bushwhackers who have infested Missouri are outplying their vocation on the plains. Others, and of this number are men who have fully posted themselves, that it is the work of the Indians; that, for years past, they have been in the habit of imposing upon friendly copper-skinned, stealing their ponies, occasionally shooting one of their chiefs, and otherwise annoying them, till they felt their burdens too grievous to be borne, and struck the war-path, determined to be amply revenged.

General Curtis, General Mitchell, and other skillful commanders are at the head of a large force of riflemen and cavalry, and have commenced scouring the country. They will soon rid the plains of their hateful presence, but no number of dead Indians can compensate for the valuable lives slain by them. Men have been killed within sixty miles of Denver, and the most inhuman massacres have been perpetrated by these demons within two days' ride of this city. Many of our citizens have been slain, and hundreds of thousands of dollars worth of property destroyed within the past month. Let vengeance swift and terrible be meted out to these enemies of civilization and peace.

Since writing the foregoing, we have received the Marysville Enterprise, which has news up to the 12th inst. We make the following extracts: As we go to press Mr. Emery has just come in from one of the stations, and gives the following additional particulars:

Mr. Emery has a brother with a family residing some thirteen miles west of Little Blue Station, who owns a ranch on what is called Liberty Farm, and being desirous of ascertaining the fate of his brother, he bravely volunteered to drive the cattle across from Big Sandy to Liberty Ranch, but he has proceeded farther than Little Blue Station when he was attacked by a band of forty Indians. Mr. Emery wheeled the coach back, which was loaded with twelve passengers, but the Indians pursued them nearly four miles, shooting at every jump. The bullets flew thick around the coach and horses, but fortunately no one was hurt. One bullet passed through a gentleman's hat, who was seated on the top of the coach. The horses could have traveled but little further at the speed Mr. Emery had put them to, and they would have all been massacred, but fortunately they overtook a large train and the red devils desisted.

Mr. Emery, from the best information he has, thinks that the Indians have burned every station, and massacred every white person from Ottumwa down to Little Blue Station.—St. Joseph (Mo.) Herald, August 18.

Letter from Senator Wilson.

To the Editor of the Boston Transcript:—Sir:—A statement, copied from the New York papers, has been telegraphed to New England, to the effect that I had been to Washington to urge upon the President the policy of an armistice with the rebels. There is not the slightest foundation for the report, as I have never entertained for a moment, any other thought than that of conquering a peace by the defeat of the rebel army.

No public man connected with the Administration is in favor of an armistice. I personally know that President Lincoln and the members of his Cabinet have no doubt of the field, and the ultimate complete triumph of our cause. And with this belief, they will pursue the most vigorous measures to raise money and men.

HENRY WILSON.
